Line of Business

Law Firm

Established 1979

Gross, Kleinhendler, Hodak, Halevy, Greenberg & Co. is one of Israel's leading full service corporate and securities law firms. Highly recommended by the Legal 500, Chambers Global and "PLC Which Lawyer?". GKH provides superior, comprehensive and innovative legal services to a broad range of clients.

GKH's attorneys are amongst Israel's foremost legal consultants on issues of corporate law, securities, and finance. A significant part of the firm's practice relates to the public offering of equity and debt securities, representing issuers in connection with domestic and international offerings. The firm is well known for its involvement in complex reorganizations, and mergers and acquisitions of large Israeli and multinational organizations. GKH has one of Israel's largest high technology, start-up and venture law practices and has been providing a wide range of services to high technology companies in all phases of development since the early 1980s. Activities encompass all forms of commercial transactions, including domestic, European and U.S. based deals. The firm also represents clients in commercial real estate investment, development, financing, leasing, zoning and land use matters. GKH employs over 100 professionals, including 18 attorneys with U.S. and U.K. licenses and work experience. GKH attorneys have served on several governmental advisory committees.

Service Philosophy

At GKH, a partner is responsible for overseeing all the activities of each client and is the principal contact point for the client, as well as the administrative supervisor of the account. In handling more complex assignments, attorneys from two or more departments frequently work together. Under the principle of a "one stop shop", GKH attorneys expert in the various practice areas collaborate to provide clients with superior advice with respect to a specific transaction or in connection with their ongoing legal and business requirements. Clients are accompanied in all aspects of their international activities by the firm's team of international lawyers.

Clients

In addition to many publicly traded corporations listed on international stock exchanges, GKH also counsels privately held corporations of all sizes, newly-formed businesses, partnerships, joint ventures, family-run businesses, non-profit organizations, venture capital funds and more. The firm represents major international underwriters and investment banks in connection with securities offerings of Israeli companies and other aspects of their Israeli related activities. The firm's clients hail from a large spectrum of industries, including energy, retail, transportation, finance, service, telecommunications, banking, biotechnology, pharmaceuticals, electronics, software, real estate, commodities and venture capital.

Departments

GKH attorneys work in department teams to offer expert advice in all areas of interest to the commercial client. Departments include Administrative Law, Restrictive Trade Practices, Banking and Finance, Commercial Transactions, Corporate, Corporate Reorganization, Employment Law, Government Procurement, Infrastructure Projects, Intellectual Property, International Transactions, International Corporate Finance, Litigation and Arbitration, Mergers and Acquisitions, Project Finance, Real Estate, Securities Law, Taxation, Technology, Venture Capital and Telecommunications.

Interaction with Government Agencies

Proficient in representing clients before governmental and regulatory agencies. GKH serves as an advocate for the client, while providing legal advice and practical knowledge. GKH has represented clients before the Ministry of Finance, Israel Tax Authorities, Israel Securities Authority, The Antitrust Authority, Office of the Chief Scientist, Tel Aviv Stock Exchange, Ministry of Communications, Ministry of Industry and Trade, Israel Government Companies Authority, administrative law tribunals of various governmental Ministries and the Bank of Israel. GKH attorneys have prepared legislative bills brought before the Israeli parliament, and have accumulated a wealth of expertise in preparing bids for governmental tenders.

Community Service

The firm grants pro bono legal services and supports "Tmura", the Israeli Public Service Venture Fund. GKH are partners with "Matan-Your Way to Give", and have established a successful volunteer program, involving members of GKH management and staff, at a local after-school club for children from multi-problem homes. GKH also runs a special support program for the Branco Weiss (Anna Frank) High School located in Kibbutz Sasa in Northern Israel.
